

About the author of I Went Down to St. James Infirmary
— Robert W. Harwood

Born in Belfast, Northern Ireland and raised in Montreal, Quebec, Robert W. Harwood currently lives in southern Ontario with his wife and son. He works in Canada's health care system. His research interests include music and photography, passions he shares with his wife, book designer and typographer, Pamela Woodland.